THE JOHNSTONE'S TRADE RANGE

Walls & Ceilings

Known as Emulsion paint the Johnstone's Trade range of paints for walls and ceilings comes in a variety of finishes which provide varying levels of durability, protection and sheen.

Trim

Trim paints are suitable for use on most wood and metals. Our range gives you options between gloss and satin finishes as well as oil and water based.

Woodcare

Offering a varied range of professional products for both interior and exterior wood the Johnstone's Trade Woodworks range of stains, varnishes and oils allows wood to remain looking at its best for longer.

Exterior

The exterior of a property is subject to weather, dirt accumulation and UV attack so requires a specialist product. Johnstone's Trade Stormshield products are formulated to be easy to apply and provide long lasting protective solutions to all exterior surfaces.

Specialist

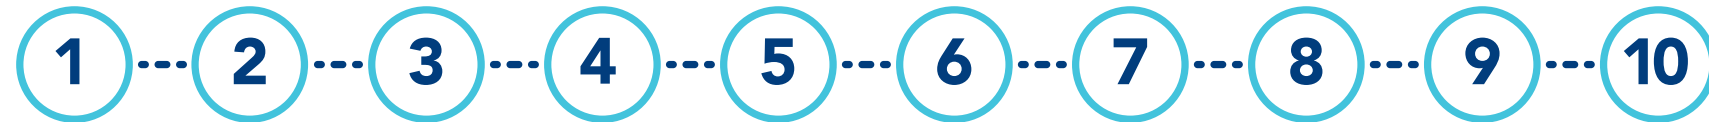

From metal paints to primers and floor paints to hygiene coatings all our products offer a lasting finish and the performance required to protect your property.

SHEEN LEVELS EXPLAINED

LOW

HIGH

Matt products have the lowest sheen levels and are the most popular finish. They give a non-reflective finish which is perfect for hiding surface imperfections.

Soft Sheen & Silk products have a higher sheen level than Matt which makes the finished paint more wipeable.

Eggshell and Satin Paints have a mid sheen finish and are mainly used on trim areas such as skirting boards and doors. Satin finish has become the preferred choice in recent years.

Gloss paints have the highest level of sheen and the finished paint will have a durable high shine finish.

WHAT ARE THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN EMULSION PAINTS?

Contract Quality

- ✓ Contract products are typically used on new plaster as the finish allows the plaster to breathe

Vinyl Quality

- ✓ Vinyl products are the everyday emulsion products and are ideal for use in domestic environments
- ✓ These products are wipeable but can be marked easily so should only be used in light-wear areas across your property

Acrylic Quality

- ✓ Acrylic quality paints have a different set of raw materials which makes the finish more resilient to damage and harder-wearing
- ✓ Acrylic paints can be easily cleaned and will stay looking newer for longer

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SOLVENT AND WATER BASED PAINT

Solvent Based

- ✓ Oil based trim paint are the traditionally used products and provide excellent application properties and a hardwearing finish
- ✓ However, due to new legislation surrounding the raw materials the whiteness of these products has been affected and over time they will yellow
- ✓ Oil based products also have a longer drying time and meaning the total job will take longer to complete

Water Based

- ✓ Water based trim paint technology has been vastly improved in recent years meaning the new products have the look and feel of oil based paints
- ✓ Water based products will stay whiter for longer and are also low odour meaning you can complete the job quickly

HOW TO BALANCE COLOUR IN YOUR ROOM

Choosing the right colours to create a balanced colour scheme in a room can often feel overwhelming. The 60-30-10 principle provides a simple and practical guide to help create the perfect colour palette. The colour strips in the back of this colour card will help you to find the right colour combinations.

60% MAIN COLOUR

Approximately 60% of your room should be the Main Colour (large walls). Think of this as the main walls in your room, and even consider the ceiling too.

30% FEATURE COLOUR

Approximately 30% of your room should be a Feature Wall Colour or ceiling. Find a wall that is small but could have a big impact if painted with a unique colour.

10% ACCENT COLOUR

Approximately 10% should be an Accent Colour (interior wood, cushions or accessories). This could be a door or skirting or even a cushion or rug.
