Fitted furniture

How to order in 4 simple steps

If you're wondering where to start, try measuring up and planning your furniture layout first. Create a floorplan to see where things fit, including space for things like door openings.

Step 1. Choose your range and colour and select your units

Select from a choice of three door styles, from clean contemporary to country cottage.

See pages 32-35

These are ordered as fascia packs and carcasses as separate items

All unit carcasses are in Cashmere with the exceptions marked above which are colour matched to the fascia (*).

See pages 38-44

Step 2. Add cladding options and plinths for a seamless look

How to use cladding options and plinths

1. Base unit cladding

Base cladding panel
(can be cut, so second piece can be used as a filler panel)

2. Wall unit cladding

Standard wall cladding panel
(can be cut, so second piece can be used as the filler panel)

3. Tall unit cladding

Offcut can be used as top cladding panel

See pages 44-46

Baths and bath screens

The bath is the centrepiece of your bathroom, so it's important that it sets the tone and style as well as offering a practical solution. Whether you're looking for something spacious, intimate, or simply soothing, take a look through our range of single, double-ended, and shower baths and you're sure to find your perfect choice.

Acrylic vs Steel

A Acrylic

- Most popular bath material throughout the UK
- Easy to transport and install thanks to its lightweight properties
- Good heat retention
- Excellent value for money and cost-effective
- Warmer (than steel) to the touch
- Non-porous: easy to clean and remove scratches

S Steel

- Commonly used throughout the UK
- Stronger and more durable than acrylic
- Resilient and almost impossible to scratch
- Whilst cold to the touch it's a great heat conductor
- Its chemical and UV light resistant properties prevent discolouring
- As a 100% recyclable material, steel is an eco-friendly choice

What type of bath?

The nabis bath collection offers a range of baths that will look at home in any bathroom. With steel, single-ended and double-ended options available you're sure to find the right option for you.

Single-ended baths

This simple, rectangular bath is typical of the style found in many homes today. With the taps installed at one end, this style provides a single backrest for comfort. As a popular design, they come in numerous sizes for a wide variety of bathroom spaces.

Double-ended baths

This style usually has a centrally-mounted taps, leaving both ends free for use as backrests, or providing a generous bathing space. These baths are also ideal for families who want to bathe children together.

Freestanding baths

The epitome of luxury, these baths create a real statement of sophistication in your bathroom. They can be sorted into two types: vintage and modern. Vintage designs tend to be slipper shaped or roll top and often stand on claws whereas the modern type are thin-rimmed, double-ended and sit neatly on the floor.

Shower baths

This style of bath is perfect for those short on space who still want the option of showering or bathing. Families can bathe their children, and still have the efficiency of showering for themselves, even in a cramped bathroom.

Which mixer shower suits you?

Mixer showers draw from both hot and cold water supplies and usually deliver higher flow rates.

Ideal for homes with readily available hot water such as from a combi boiler or large capacity hot water cylinder, the hot and cold water is mixed within the unit and the water is delivered through the shower.

Mini valves

These small stylish compact showers are ideal for ensembles or small bathrooms.

Thermostatic concealed valves

For a more sleek and discreet style, you can choose a concealed valve. All the workings sit behind a plate that is fitted flush to the wall, leaving just the control mechanisms exposed.

Choosing the right taps

It's natural to think first about the bigger elements of your bathroom, but little things like taps can make a big impact on your finished space.

Basin and bath taps

Basin and bath are the most commonly used taps in the bathroom. There are many styles to choose from, each changing the look and functionality of your space.

Mixer taps

Mixer taps are more popular than ever, as they deliver your ideal temperature combination in just one flow. They require one tap hole basins and are a great solution for smaller spaces.

Heating

The nabis range of stylish radiators means regardless of the type of bathroom you've chosen, we have the solution for you.

Key features:

15 year
guarantee

We have a wide range of guarantees covering all our products for your peace of mind.

What type of radiator?

Towel rails and radiators are very similar, although towel rails give off slightly less heat as they are designed to warm towels, not whole rooms.

Heated towel rails

Towel rails are often polished or glossy, generally made from stainless steel or carbon and chrome plated, and add a sense of style to any bathroom.

Decorative radiators

Designer radiators are another stylish way to heat your bathroom. Just as sleek as a heated towel rail, they too add an element of luxury to any space.

Heating

Give your bathroom the ultimate look with a designer towel warmer from nabis. Whether you're looking for a simple towel rail or a stylish feature, nabis has a number of options to suit all tastes.
