A floor with movement can change how a room feels, and Bowden does this through glazed porcelain with soft marble effect patterning, a structured surface and a matt finish. The design has enough variation and detail to give every tile more character, while the matt finish keeps it grounded and easy to build around. The large format gives the pattern more room to travel across the floor, letting the marble effect develop more freely across the space.

The Beige colourway brings a warmer reading of the marble effect, adding warmth to the overall scheme while keeping the look relaxed. With 12 face variations, that warmth shifts naturally across the floor from tile to tile. A minimum 3mm grout joint is recommended for the best finish.
